Changing Perceptions

CHANG had lost his axe and he suspected that his neighbour's son, Wu, had stolen it.

As he stood watching the boy from his window, he noticed that he had a scar on his forehead.

"He certainly looks like a thief," thought Chang.

Then he heard him talking to his brother and he thought: "He speaks like a thief too!"

When the boy began to walk, it seemed to Chang that the boy walked exactly like a thief he had once seen being led to prison.

Just then his wife came rushing in with the axe.

"It had fallen in the haystack," she explained.

Chang's face lit up with joy when he saw the axe.

"What were you looking at?" asked his wife, joining him at the window.

"I was watching our neighbour's son," said Chang. "One can easily tell by his looks and by the way he talks and walks that he is a thorough gentleman."

ANIMAL DIARY

Spidey Holes

WE all know that spiders make webs but the Australian leaf-curling spider builds two additional houses to provide her with a den as well as a nursery for her babies. After making a web, the female chooses a suitable dead leaf. She lines the leaf with spider silk and curls it to form a little den that is closed at the top and open at the bottom. She hangs it in the centre of the web and waits inside for passing prey.

When she is expecting babies, she curls another leaf and hangs it away from the web in the midst of foliage.

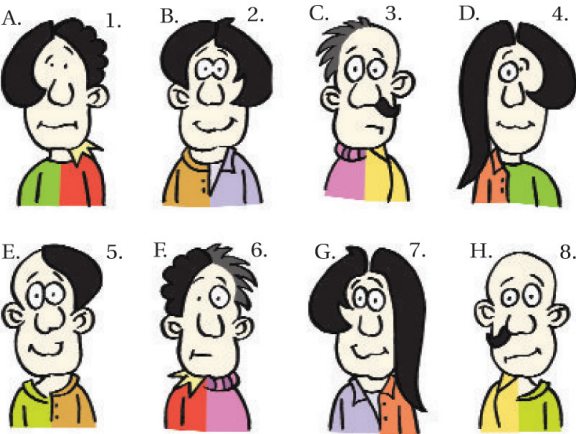

The spider is also eco-aware! She uses not just fallen leaves but also discarded scraps of paper or other waste material to make her shelters.

AN ATMOSPHERE of zeal, passion and enthusiasm for the promotion of science was witnessed at TT Nagar Stadium on Thursday morning. The purpose of the marathon was to connect people with the 8th India International Science Festival. More than 1,500 students from various schools and colleges of the city participated. Principal Secretary, Science and Technology, Nikunj Srivastava flagged off this marathon of about three and a half kilometres from TT Nagar Stadium. The marathon passed through Mata Mandir, TT Nagar Stadium and ended at NRC Bhawan located in MANIT Campus.

During this, tremendous enthusiasm was seen among the participants. On this occasion, National Organisation Secretary of Vigyan Bharti Pravin Ramdas, social worker Hemant Muktibodh, Executive Director of INSA Arvind Ranade, Executive Director, RCB Faridabad, Sudhanshu Vrat, Director General of MPC-ST, Dr Anil Kothari and Acting Director of MANIT G Dixit were prominently present.

Promoted science by raising slogans: The enthusiasm of the participants who came to take part in the marathon was worth seeing. Despite bitterly cold wind, people of all ages came to participate in the marathon. During this, the participants were holding banners and flags related to the progress of science, its benefits in life and the promotion of science. Slogan of science is a beautiful gift to humanity, we should not distort it was written on banner.

The Science of Today is the Technology of Tomorrow. Talking about development with science, we do something, you do something. Slogans like explaining science to the people, removing superstition and evil practices... were written. Along with this, the participants also raised slogans of Jai Jawan-Jai Kisan, Jai Vigyan.

Life made easier with science: Arvind Ranade, Executive Director, INSA, said that science and technology have made our lives easier. It is necessary that we use science and technology in the right direction. The participation of the public is very important in spreading the message of the Science Festival from Bhopal in Madhya Pradesh to every corner of the country. He said that only through successful events like Science Festival, India would be able to establish itself as a knowledge centre in the world. National Organisation

Secretary of Vigyan Bharti, Praveen Ramdas, present in the programme, said that the eagerness of hundreds of participants involved in the Run for Science Marathon proves that the science festival in Madhya Pradesh will touch the pinnacle of historic success. More and more students should be benefitted: Principal Secretary Nikunj Srivastava said that it is a matter of pleasure that the eighth Science Festival will be organised in Madhya Pradesh and Bhopal. He said that it is hoped that this event will be successful in taking the future of children to new heights in the direction of science. There is a positive atmosphere in the city regarding this event. More and more school and college students should join this. Director General MPC-ST Dr Anil Kothari said that all the responsibilities related to India International Science Festival have been successfully discharged.
